

Silver Edge

Ophiopogon japonica 'Silver Edge' (D<sub>PR</sub>)

Low maintenance

Silver Edge is a variegated Mondo grass, that generally keeps remarkably clean foliage.

A few years back another common form of variegated Mondo was released in Australia and New Zealand, but it easily got rust and looked terrible for much of the year. Silver Edge is much cleaner:

SILVER EDGE

Under the same conditions and growing side by side, SILVER EDGE has a higher rust resistance, while the common form gets rust badly.

COMMON FORM

Colourful edging

Silver Edge is useful for adding a colourful, low maintenance border to a garden. Standard Mondo is a very popular plant because it simply works as a border; so now you can add Silver Edge to the list of functional border plants.

Silver Edge is a very low maintenance plant, but like normal Mondo, it benefits from trimming every 2 or so years. Silver

Edge is very heat and humidity tolerant, but also does very well in cooler climates like Melbourne. Silver Edge will work anywhere normal Mondo does, just with a much more vibrant colour.
